Value of any journal is judged by its indexing. Dear author we are happy to inform you that AJPCR is now indexed on ebsco and elseweir. AJPCR also got the Index Copernicus value. ISI index, SCI, Scopus and Pubmed indexing is in process for AJPCR. With the support and response which we are getting from you people, AJPCR will get impact factor soon. We are getting subscription form for Institutional subscription of print version, though we have announced it as online Journal as per my previous editorial. So we are sending back them. The Journal which are old and having impact factor takes long time to publish the article. AJPCR working with the online system through which fast evaluation of manuscripts is possible from the peer reviewing process. Author will now able to know the status of their articles online as early as possible.
